

2022 ASCM Corporate Membership Program

Engage, develop or transform: New corporate programs tailored to organizational needs

Not all organizations have the same needs when it comes to supply chain performance improvement. That's why we are restructuring our corporate membership program—to help you achieve your goals.

Community Engagement

Engagement and networking plays a pivotal role in the growth of both supply chain professionals and, ultimately, the organization they represent. The Community Engagement membership tier provides exclusive opportunities for supply chain professionals to engage with key leaders, experts, and the larger supply chain community.

Talent Development

Understand and optimize your employees' current skills to develop a workforce capable of handling the ever-changing demands of a supply chain professional. The Talent Development tier builds on Community Engagement by also providing access to enterprise talent and digital readiness assessments that can help your organization dynamically adapt to changing business needs while fostering a culture of continued learning.

Enterprise Transformation

Transforming supply chain operations generally involves not just the introduction of powerful new technology, but a fundamental review of processes and organization. The Enterprise Development tier builds upon benefits offered within the Community Engagement and Talent Development tiers with added tools to help achieve significant supply chain performance improvements.
