

2023 ASCM Corporate Membership Program

Engage, develop or transform: New corporate programs tailored to organizational needs

Not all organizations have the same needs regarding supply chain performance improvement. ASCM works closely with our members to understand their unique needs and specific objectives. We have three corporate membership programs to help you achieve your goals.

Community Engagement

Engagement and networking play a pivotal role in the growth of supply chain professionals and the organization they represent.

Talent Development

Understand and optimize your employees' current skills to develop a workforce capable of handling the ever-changing demands of a supply chain professional. The Talent Development tier builds on Community Engagement by also providing access to enterprise talent and digital readiness assessments that can help your organization dynamically adapt to changing business needs while fostering a culture of continued learning.

Enterprise Transformation

Transforming supply chain operations generally involves not just the introduction of powerful new technology, but a fundamental review of processes and organization. The Enterprise Transformation tier builds upon benefits offered within the Community Engagement and Talent Development tiers with added tools to help achieve significant supply chain performance improvements.
